GRIZZLY ELEVEN MAY PLAY SUNDODGERS

BRUINS CRAPPLE WITH PREACHERS

First Hoop Game to Be Played With Montana Wesleyan Tonight.

METHODISTS ARE FAST

Larkin and Sullivan Only Two Veterans on Grizzly Squad From Last Year.

Tonight the hibernation of the Grizzly basketball squad ceases when they meet the Methodists from Montana Wesleyan University of Helena in the first hoop contest of the year. Coach Bierman is confident of victory but realizes that the Bruins will have a hard row to hoe before the state championship again rests in the Grizzlies den.

The men who will start tonight's game are Larkin (captain) right forward; Olsen, left forward; McKain, center; Sullivan, left guard and Walterskirchen, right guard. The game will start at 8:15 sharp. "Shorty" Whistler will, in all probability, officiate the contest.

Coach Bierman will use all the squad in the game in order to determine the ability of the Bruin hoop artists under fire. The men who are appearing daily for practice and who will enter the fray are Joy, Ahern, Straw, McKoin and Spogen. All of these men are fast and are liable at any time to be placed on the first string.

At the same time the Aggies, who played their first game last Saturday, will clash with the School of Mines at Bozeman. The Miners overwhelmed the Wesleyan aggregation, 55 to 8, rolling up a one-sided score in spite of the fact that substitutes were sent in.

TRYOUTS WILL BE HELD ON TRIANGULAR DEBATE

Preliminary tryouts for the team that will take part in the triangular debate will be held Tuesday at 4:30 in room 16 of the library. The triangular debate is between the Universities of Utah, Idaho and Montana.

Eight men will be chosen in the preliminary tryouts. The finals will be held a week later and four men will be picked to represent the University. George Witter, a student in the law school and a member of the debate team that will represent the University in the debate with the State College in February, is trying out.

The question to be debated is: "Resolved, That the federal government should pass legislation providing for compulsory arbitration of labor disputes affecting public utilities, constitutionality acceded."

CADETS HOLD SHOOT

Members of the R. O. T. C. spent an hour in pistol target practice Thursday morning, under the supervision of Colonel Cron and Sergeant Brown. The weapons used were of the Colt military model, 45 caliber, at a distance of 25 yards. As soon as weather permits, both revolver and rifle practice are to be included in the course.

THEY WEAR THE "M"

Sullivan Larkin

Captain Gussie Larkin and Steve Sullivan are the Montana hoop artists about whom Coach Bernie Bierman has built the Grizzly team. They will play their first game of the season tonight against the Methodists.

STUDY OF GERMAN WILL BE RESUMED

Profs. Recommend Re-establishment of Language Course at University.

The study of German has been recommended by the faculty to the state board of education. The faculty was unanimous in its vote to return German to the course of study. The re-establishment is to take place as soon as possible, if passed by the state board.

Instruction in German was dropped from the course of study in 1918 in response to an order of the state council of defense. According to the order instruction was to cease until further notice. Since the state council of defense no longer exists, the sanction of the state board of education only is necessary to allow the re-establishment of the course in the University curriculum.

Reasons for the re-establishment of German in the University seem to be that in all graduate and scientific work it is essential and that a number of students are attending other institutions because they could receive no instruction in German here.

MOSBY IS CANDIDATE FOR KAIMIN EDITOR

Eck Mosby has announced his candidacy for editor of the Montana Kaimin at the special A. S. U. M. election to be held January 22. Mosby, well known among the students, acted as editor of The Kaimin at the beginning of the fall quarter, during the absence of Editor Gorsline. He is business manager of the Sentinel and a member of the national journalism fraternity, Sigma Delta Chi.

As yet no other students have announced their intentions of running for this office.

Delta Gamma alumna entertained the pledges at an informal dinner last Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Leon Hurt.

SAYS DEMOCRACY A RESPONSIBILITY

Dr. Liberty Hyde Bailey Defines Limits of Self-governing State.

"IS STEP TOWARD LIBERTY"

Problem Is to Make Most of Self and Give Service to Others.

"From the airplane of my fancy, I saw an old, bent man, stooped with many burdens of beastliness, selfishness, ignorance, zigzagging—I could not tell where, but his general course was onward. And as I watched, him his burdens fell off one by one, and a man joined him, and then another until a great company followed him. A few fell by the way, and when I turned again to watch him he was standing on the top of a mountain before his company with a halo over his head. He was Demos, and his company was democracy."

This was the introduction to the subject "Are We a Democracy," given by Liberty Hyde Bailey of Cornell university at convocation yesterday. Dr. Bailey is a noted authority on agriculture, and publicist. He has been dean of the college of agriculture at Cornell for 25 years. Dr. Bailey delivered an address at the inaugural

UNIVERSITY MEN STAGE HI JINX SKIT SATURDAY

Bill Kane Appointed Chairman of Permanent Committee on Student Activities.

Hi Jinx will be held one week from Saturday night, January 24, according to the decision made by the Student Council at the meeting Wednesday afternoon. Bill Kane, cheer leader, was appointed manager of Hi Jinx.

Virginia McAuliffe, vice president of the Woman's Self-government association, Florence Dixon, vice president of the A. S. U. M., Guy Mooney, president of the Junior class, and Bill Kane as chairman, compose a permanent committee for student features.

A Senior honorary society was discussed and the committee on student organizations was instructed to investigate the need for such a society. The committee, as provided by the committee plan adopted last quarter, consists of the junior president, chairman, the representative from the Woman's Self Government Association, and the faculty representative. The members this year are Guy Mooney, Virginia McAuliffe, and Dr. M. J. Elrod.

Seymour Gorsline attended the meeting for the last time, having resigned his position as Kaimin editor. His place will be taken in the Student Council by Harry Griffin, who has been appointed editor of The Kaimin until a regular election is held.

STREIT IN ENGLAND

Clarence Streit, winner of the Rhodes scholarship, awarded here last term, has arrived in England, according to a cable received by his parents in Missoula. Mr. Streit is to begin his studies at Oxford January 15.

Grizzlies to Invade Northwest on Monday

The Grizzly basketball team leaves on its invasion of the northwest Monday night on No. 1. The first game of the schedule is with Gonzaga at Spokane. From Spokane the squad travels to Idaho to play the Muscovites in two encounters on the basketball floor. The last two games of the trip are with the Cougars at Pullman. The Bruin five will return Monday, January 26.

Coach Bierman says that at present he cannot announce the men who will take the trip. He is waiting until the game tonight in order to choose the three extra men of the squad. Eight men and the coach will board No. 1 Monday night for the invasion.

TREATY COMPROMISE WINS MONTANA VOTE

Thirty-one Percent of Students and 12 Percent of Faculty Cast Ballots.

University students and faculty voted Tuesday for the ratification of the peace treaty through a compromise between the advocates of the Lodge reservations and the democrats. Votes were cast by 31 per cent of the students and 12 per cent of the faculty.

The compromise plan won by a count of 99 students and 5 faculty members. Ratification of the treaty with the Lodge reservations came second, winning 78 votes among the students and 2 among the faculty. Forty students and two faculty members were in favor of accepting the treaty without any reservations or amendments. Rejection of the treaty in any form was chosen by 32 students and one faculty member.

Three ballots were signed by the Kaiser, Woodrow Wilson and Senator Lodge respectively. The Kaiser voted for immediate adoption in any form. Senator Lodge threw aside his reservations and voted with the former Hun emperor. Woodrow Wilson would have both the treaty and league rejected.

WOMEN'S CONVOCATION WILL BE HELD JAN. 22

The Women's Self Government association will hold its first convocation this year on Thursday, January 22, according to the committee in charge. Plans will be made for the co-ed formal, of which Jewel Godfrey is in charge. The formal will be held February 14.

Florence Dixon, president of W. S. G. A., will preside. Prominent University women will address the convocation in regard to the work of the W. S. G. A. and the obligations of the women to it. Dean K. W. Jamison will speak.

MARY FARRELL BACK

Mary N. Farrell, who was operated on at St. Vincent's hospital in Billings for appendicitis during the Christmas holidays, has returned to her home in Joliet. She expects to return to the University this week end.

U. OF W. WANTS 1920 STRUGGLE

Schreiber Receives Telegram Asking for Game October 16.

FIRST COAST CONTEST

Early Season Date Would Make Necessary Large Squad, Says Coach.

Physical Director W. E. Schreiber yesterday received the following telegram from Physical Director C. J. Hunt of the University of Washington, "Can you play football here October 16?" Professor Schreiber announces that the game will be played if Washington guarantees sufficient funds to make the trip possible. A letter has been sent to Director C. J. Hunt stating the conditions under which the Grizzly team will make the trip.

Owing to the fact that the game comes at such an early date the Grizzlies will have to take a large squad to Seattle, says Physical Director Schreiber. If Washington can make a large enough guarantee to cover all expenses then the Grizzlies will make the first invasion of the Pacific coast in the athletic history of the institution. Professor Schreiber is well pleased with the recognition awarded the University by Pacific Northwest conference football teams.

In the opinion of many authorities the University of Washington had the strongest football team in the west last year. A match between Washington and Harvard was considered. If the game is arranged for next fall it will rank with the game against Syracuse in 1915, as one of the biggest battles in Bruin history.

Y. W. C. A. SECRETARY VISITS AT UNIVERSITY

Miss Oolooah Burner, student secretary of the Y. W. C. A. national board, with headquarters in New York city, addressed the regular weekly meeting of the university Y. W. C. A. in the association room Tuesday afternoon.

She presented both sides of the question of change in the membership basis of student associations in the United States. It has been proposed and twice voted upon that the basis of admission to membership be changed from membership in one of the churches of the Federation of the Evangelical Churches of Christ in America to a personal pledge to further the purposes of the Y. W. C. A. In this way it is hoped to interest women not church members in joining some church. This proposal, if passed at the national triennial convention in Cincinnati in April, will become a regular ruling of the association. It would, however, allow individual student associations to continue on the former basis if they so desired. Miss Burner is visiting student associations throughout the northwest field of the association to inform them on this issue, so that they may intelligently instruct their delegates to the convention how to vote.

Elvera Starz, who has been ill at the Delta Gamma house, is improving. Her mother arrived Thursday from Helena.

SIDESTEPPING RESPONSIBILITIES

The campus vote taken last Tuesday on the Peace Treaty and the League of Nations, apparently meant but little to some members of the student body and of the faculty. Only 31 percent of the students and 26 percent of the faculty felt alive enough on national issues to cast a vote of opinion. This showing perhaps means but little within the confines of our own campus. But there are other angles to consider in a proposition of this kind. By this time every University and college in the country will know that the State University as a sample of academic expression was a failure. We can't blame them in believing that the Peace Treaty and the League of Nations is something new and unheard of in Montana. Not when students and faculty members, who have every advantage to keep abreast of current questions, fail to realize their responsibilities. College opinion is regarded on the outside as a trustworthy index to national opinion. It is a part of our University training to maintain this regard. Our campus did not measure up to the expected. We should have polled a hundred percent vote.

Alice Neilson to Sing
at Liberty January 26

Alice Nielson, lyric soprano, will be at the Liberty theater Monday, January 26, through the efforts of DeLoss Smith of the school of music. Miss Nielson has been touring the west under the direction of the Western Musical Bureau. Thomas Griselle, composer-pianist, is her accompanist. The Portland Spectator says, "Miss Nielson has gained much since her last appearance here. Her voice is sweeter and fuller, while particularly in the high notes, there is a clarity of tone found in too few concert soprano voices."

Tickets may be obtained at W. H. Smead Co., for $2, $1, 75c and 50c, war tax extra.

Chaffin and Demers
Heads of Committees

The junior class met Wednesday afternoon in a brief session to make plans for the Junior prom to be held in April or May. Lambert Demers and Glenn Chaffin were placed at the head of committees to make plans. No definite arrangements have been made excepting that it was decided the affair would be formal, which is customary.

Winter Quarter Shortened

The winter quarter has been cut to eleven weeks. This change was necessary in order to be able to start the summer session on June 14. The spring quarter will be twelve weeks in length.

MASQUERS CLUB TO GIVE BIG PLAY THIS QUARTER

One big three act play will be staged by the Masquers club this quarter, was the decision reached by that organization at a meeting held Tuesday afternoon in Main hall. A committee composed of Mac Gault, Ann Reely and Virginia Yegen was appointed to select a play.

It was also decided to have the meetings held on every second Tuesday in the month business meetings, and those held on the fourth Tuesday a social meeting. At these meetings an entertainment will be furnished by some of the members in the club or university students who wish to try out for admission to the club.

SUMMER SESSION PLANS
INTRODUCE NEW COURSES

Rowe Hopes to Make Fourth Quarter Just Like Regular Terms.

"What we are trying to do," said Dr. J. P. Rowe, who is in charge of the summer school session, "is to make this summer quarter like a regular school quarter, but we must offer special courses for the teachers who come here for certain work. All the courses we give will receive college credit and we will also give teachers' certificates.

Dr. Rowe plans to send out, in post card form, announcements of the work to be given during the summer. These cards will tell when the quarter starts, the number of departments and courses, about the railroad refund, which people who come here seldom know about and which will prove to bring more students for the summer school than any other inducement, and about the prices of room and board and registration fees.

"We do not know yet about the instructors," said Dr. Rowe, "but we will probably have two or three outside teachers and will try hard to secure some special lecturers."

Among the outside instructors who were here for the last summer quarter was Mrs. Margaret P. Gainslee, from North Dakota, who came here to write and present The Selish, a pageant which was given by the students and townspeople. She also offered a course in dramatic writing and interpretative reading. Professor H. E. Barnes of New York, writer of histories, came here and taught a course in international relations.

SENIOR CLASS ARRANGES FOR SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

The senior class met Wednesday afternoon to discuss plans for commencement invitations and to make general arrangements for coming social activities.

A dance will be given in the gymnasium the first Friday in April.

Albert Howe, who was not in school here the first quarter, was appointed among others as a member of the social committee.

LAW STUDENT WITHDRAWS

Charles Baldwin of Kalispell, Montana, has withdrawn from the State University school of law, where he was a junior. He withdrew because of his father's illness, and it is understood that he will go to the coast.

FORESTERS LECTURERS TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK

Dr. A. D. Knowles, one of the foremost veterinarians of the state, will resume his lectures on the care of stock on the range at the forestry school next week.

Dr. E. H. Riley of the experiment station at Bozeman, will lecture here on the food value of range grasses on January 29, 30 and 31.

The January birthday dinner at Craig hall was Thursday night. Only five girls signed up for birthdays during this month.

The Town five playing bang-up basketball defeated the Theta quintet Wednesday afternoon 46 to 39, in the fastest and most interesting co-ed hoop game ever played on the gym floor. This makes the local co-eds runner ups for the feminine basketball honors of the institution.

The game started with the Theta five showing strong and in a few minutes they were in the lead. Although the Town five showed flashes of form in the first half they could not overcome the Greek sisters lead and the timer's whistle saw Theta leading 19 to 15. The second half for a while was close but soon the training and conditioning of the Town quintet began to show and the game was no longer in doubt.

For the losers McAuliffe and Bruneau showed well and were responsible for most of the Helen of Troy's scores. Burkhart, Christianson and Faust were the prize lights of the Town's star team. Should Town and Theta play the rest of the season without defeat they will be tied for the championship. This afternoon the Kappas and Alpha Phi mix.

Ignorant Essays

By "Gussie."

The Sophomore Life of Clarice. Chapter VI.

Clarice, like the prodigal son, had returned to the University. Dr. Jessie to him was no stranger and Speer's puzzle of registration to him was an open book. Our Hero at last felt that he belonged. He had been called by Miss Leyda for affectionate dancing and with the co-eds was a hit. Truly his education was progressing. His pin was a shining light upon his vest and Clarice decided that this quarter would see him cut a notch in the Varsity social world. His soup and fish was cleaned and pressed and father's money was in the bank with the right for Clarice to perform the University penman stuff. He knew that with the coming dancing season and the co-eds basketball finals he should become one of the two dozen chosen few of the Shimmy sisters clan. "I am ready to knock them dead," sighed Our Hero, as he checked off the first music wrestle on the social calander. (To be continued.)

Many a co-ed is an art student when she stands before her Mirror.

Only the lawnmower is supposed to cut the campus.

The Mortar board is laying a good foundation for the observance of University traditions.

The appearance of W. J. Bryan in politics during these prohibition times makes dry reading.

After reading about the liquor blindness in New York we drank many a ginger-ale deciding whether or not we wood alcohol up a little.

Miss Francis Rock was reported lost. This must have been a hard blow to her folks.

We wonder why Craig hall bought ten records, most women are good talking machines themselves.

If the athletic ball is held in Union hall most of the boys will feel at home. Maybe that is why the M men decided to make the dance informal, when in Rome do as the Romans.

Just because this is leap year is no reason why all women should start fussing.

BAND MEN TO RECEIVE EXTRA CREDIT FOR WORK

Students who registered for band work for this quarter, are to receive an extra credit. The band is to be made a part of the R. O. T. C. and it is understood that all bandmen are to be excused from actual military drill. However, they are expected to use military band tactics, and put in an appearance on the drill ground when ordered to do so by the commandant. The regulation uniform will be provided for the members.

Rehearsals are being held every afternoon in Simpkins hall, under the leadership of Lloyd Doctor.

ONE DEPARTMENT HAS 109

The department of business administration announces the registration of 109 students in the accounting classes in comparison to 91 last quarter. The freshman class leads with an attendance of 60, sophomores have 17, juniors 16, seniors 5, and specials 2. Mr. Coon regards this increase as very favorable to the department.

Miss Emeline S. Whitcomb, head of the home economics department, was a dinner guest at Craig hall Wednesday night.

M. J. HUTCHENS LECTURES ON YELLOW JOURNALISM

Tells of Long Fight for Supremacy Between Hearst Papers and Pulitzer.

Yellow journalism is all right, providing one knows "how to take it up, when to take it up, and where to stop," said Martin J. Hutchens in his address to the Press club Wednesday night. Mr. Hutchens, who is editor of the Missoulian and the Sentinel, talked on the subject of yellow journalism.

Mr. Hutchens told of many of his experiences while a reporter in New York city. He narrated incidents about Nellie Bly, famous sensational writer of the time, and told of other prominent writers, such as Charles Edward Russell and Richard Harding Davis. He related the story of the long fight between the Hearst company and the Pulitzer papers for yellow journalism supremacy. Continuing he exposed the yellow methods which were in progress during his period as city editor on the Chicago American. Explaining the downfall of yellow journalism Mr. Hutchens stated that it was its own prominence that caused its downfall.

Following Mr. Hutchens' talk, Mr. Dan C. Batchelor of the Missoulian staff related an incident of his work while a reporter on the Chicago American.

Theda Bara Goes From Wall Home of Local Theatre

Theda Bara has left home. And Advertising Manager Moe of the Liberty theater is unable to explain why she has gone and where she has gone. She disappeared mysteriously several nights ago and in spite of all efforts to locate her, no clew leading to her place of concealment is apparent.

As a result Liberty theater patrons are in a sorry mood. Theda, for the last two years has greeted theater goers every night. She has never failed to catch the eye of the sleepest movie fan at any time. She did the welcome stunt well. No one could complain of it being "put on" stuff. It couldn't have been because Theda doesn't believe in such things.

Theda's residence during her stay in Missoula has been the theater lobby. She overlooks the fans as they file into the show. No evidence of a struggle could be found to indicate foul play, but if there was, it is safe to say that Theda hung on until the last minute.

Manager Moe believes that University students are responsible for the abduction. Scarcity of house mothers is the probable reason for his suspicion. Mr. Moe is sincere enough in his suspicions to place an advertisement in The Montana Kaimin in hopes that "Salome," as she was familiarly known, may see the error of her ways and be made to realize the heavy hearts of Liberty theater patrons who now pass through an ordinary artless and heartless moving picture lobby.

MISSOULIAN COLUMN RECALLS FIRST DAYS

In 1895 Missoula voted 370 to 7 to appropriate $3,000 to finish the south side school as temporary quarters for the State University, according to the "25 years ago" column of the Missoulian.

This little red brick school house is still standing down near the flour mills, but bonds are soon to be voted upon which will replace the old building with a modern new structure.

The University board, composed of Hiram Knowles, Thomas C. Marshall and J. H. T. Ryman, provided in their recommendation to the state board for a preparatory department, a department of literature, science and mechanic arts; and a professional and technical schools. They recommended the appointment of six professors and one teacher.

The budget for two years was $26,000, $14,680 to be used the first year. Of this $10,500 was for salaries, $1,450 for current expenses, $850 for furniture, $1,380 for apparatus, and $1,000 for periodicals and books.

The Well-Dressed Fellows You Meet at School Today Are Wearing Donohue's Clothes

The past season has been the most successful clothing season we have ever had. There is a reason for it—we are specializing in smart, snappy apparel for the college man who is in search of that touch of newness. And style is not the only thing you find in our clothes, for they are made of fabrics that wear, in garments that fit, at prices you like to pay.

B. H. B. Organization Leaves Campus With Class of 1920

When the class of 1920 makes its exit from the campus next June the organization of B. H. B.'s will exit with it. B. H. B. was organized in the spring of 1917 in room 9 of Craig hall. Its members are co-eds.

Eight freshman girls of the class of '20 were close personal friends. They ate at the same table in the dining room of Craig hall—ate there by special arrangement because it gave them an opportunity to be together at least three times a day. Many evenings they would sit together—on the floor—just outside of room 9 for a few minutes' chat after dinner.

This was the beginning of B. H. B. The meaning of the club name, B. H. B., is a secret. Its members say it will always remain so. The eight girls who had so much in common, who were drawn into companionship by ties even stronger than fraternity affiliation are: Mary Farrell, Jean MacRae, Elva Burt, Marion Leech, Alice Schweffel, Virginia McAnuliffe, Ethel Robinson and Margaret Turner. Later Beryl Wilson and Ethel Johnston of the same class were admitted. In the fall of '18 the ritual of B. H. B. was drawn up.

The B. H. B.'s have been accused of being a political club. Its members deny this and their denial seems plausible since four women's fraternities are represented in their organization. But its members have held many of the highest student offices on the campus.

Montana first and all the time, to work always for the betterment of the institution, to keep sacred its traditions, to keep the glory of the University singing has been the policy of B. H. B. Upperclassmen admit that the influence of the B. H. B.'s has been of material value during the past four years.

B. H. B. has not expanded greatly. It was founded on too firm a friendship to warrant that. Never has a member of a class other than 1920, '18 or '19 been admitted. The first addition to the B. H. B.'s were the S. I. U.'s. These co-eds were Esther Jacobson, Mary Wright and Doris Prescott. The P. I. U.'s were admitted shortly afterward. They were Peggy Miller, Hazel Baird, Margaret Garvin and Charlotte Plummer.

There are no officers in the B. H. B. club. There is a "boss." Mary Farrell is it. She is called "The grand bouncer." No explanation is offered. All banquets are held at The Minute Lunch.

On Aber day '18, the B. H. B.'s gave to the University a service flag. On it were 224 stars. Two were gold. In the spring of '19 they gave a military ball in honor of the University's returned service men. The count on the service flag read 424. Thirteen were gold.

Last year Florence Dixon, '20, was taken into the club. At present Winifred Meeks, '20, is the only pledge. B. H. B. is not a permanent organization, its members say. It has meant much to the girls who have been pals during their college life.

So this year marks the curtain for B. H. B. Loyal to her pals and determined to hold their friendship sacred each member has decreed that it must go—that each will take it with her—in memory.

DEVELOPMENT OF BODY OBJECT OF DEPARTMENT

That the body should be developed as well as the mind is the object of the physical education department of the University. A test of each student's vitality is taken at the beginning and at the end of each school year. Statistics show that the results obtained were very favorable, say Physical Director W. C. Schreiber.

The average vitality of the co-eds in the colleges of the United States is 17.651. At the beginning of the fall quarter of 1918 the average for Montana was 17.759 compared with 19.168 for the same women this fall. The average for the Freshman co-eds at the beginning of this year was 18.001. The men's average raised from 62.858 in 1918 to 63.673 for 1919. The average increase in the men's development was: lung capacity 4 cubic inches, weight 2.6 pounds, and the height 4 inches. These figures were obtained from Physical Director W. E. Schreiber yesterday.

Recreation is given rather than exercises as the former create a greater interest. The intra-mural games are to increase that interest and their object has been realized. As a rule the average co-ed does not know how to play games, and the competition is an incentive. They may also be looked on as a mixer, because some of the girls have very little social life and depend on athletics for recreation. The competition between the men's teams gives the coach an idea of the available material for varsity teams. Every student has the opportunity of participating in athletics. They also create an interest in the Varsity and its activities.

TO A MOUSE

(From Reed College Quest.)

In 1785 Robert Burns was probably quite right in commenting on the mouse, "Oh, what a panic's in thy breastie," but had he been living last week, and singing with the Reed college chorus, he would have found a different site for the panic he describes. The mouse may have been affrighted, but there were more evident signs of the terror it occasioned.

Picture the Reed chorus practicing the First Noel, Hans Heerlein flourishing the baton, and straining his ears for discords; Lucile Murton at the organ, and the entire case of the approaching trag-comedy, aware of naught save the printed notes. A sustained chord, and all eyes fight for a resting place on the baton. Suddenly the director plunges headlong sideways, reaching wildly after a scurrying mouse. He loses his dignity in an excited scramble for the intruder who evades the baton, and hurries back across the platform. The organist sees the mouse, and decides that the top of the piano is none too high for safety. The rest of the chorus satisfies the climbing instinct on their chairs, and wild shrieks add haste to the mouse's escape.

According to Hans, another visit from the mouse, and he will have nervous prostration or know the reason why.

University News Writers Excel on State Paper

Report comes from the publishers of the Livingston Enterprise that never before has there been so much confidence felt in regard to the news section of that paper. And all, it was stated, on account of the ability of two men, namely, Emmet Riordan, manager of the Enterprise, and John Crowe, who is in charge of the city desk.

Crowe is still to be considered a member of the journalism school at the State University. He has taken advantage of the field course—which allows a student to obtain credit for actual experience, and for which ten credit hours are allowed. The credits will apply toward a degree.

Riordan was editor of The Kaimin in '15 and '16. He left school in June, 1918. An editorial appeared in The Kaimin after his editorship commenting upon the man and his work. It read:

"In Emmet Riordan The Kaimin had one of the best—in our opinion the best—editor it has ever had * * * He spent more time than anyone else on the time-devouring Kaimin * * * and yet he was able to carry eighteen hours and get on the honor roll last semester."

Riordan was, for awhile, a reporter on the Great Falls Tribune. He also served as the assistant publicity manager of the Chamber of Commerce at the Falls. In November, 1919, Riordan took up his work at Livingston.

RESPONSIBILITY KEYNOTE OF ACTUAL DEMOCRACY

services held in Bozeman last Wednesday. He will visit several other colleges while in the northwest.

"Democracy," he continued, "is a state of society, a sentiment working within a people that goes uphill trying to throw off its burdens. It is a process of evolution in self-expression, in the desire of life, in education, in religion, and in government. The modern philosophy is that of the internal perfecting process in nature. We cannot explain society by the mere external impact of forces. The process is an elevation from below, not a leveling from above.

"We have many notions about what democracy is, but none of them answer completely. Democracy is not liberty and independence, but only a step toward it; democracy is not simplicity of living because democracy is not a matter of food and clothing. It is not socialism as expressed in the present political cult. Democracy is not decentralization of power, it is not war nor peace; it is not home rule, nor revolt from tyranny, nor majority rule; it is not radicalism, not revolution in Russia, nor nature. It is a responsibility to help people along in giving opportunity for individual expression.

"If I were to state the problem of democracy to you, it would be this: How to make the most of one's self at the same time rendering the best service to one's fellows. It is the obligation of every one. It is your obligation. And if there is not progress in the world today, you might just as well close up this institution now."

Mrs. Loretta Pierson, mother of Helen Pierson, who is a freshman at the University, died at her home in Billings Tuesday.

BRUINS MEET PREACHERS ON LOCAL FLOOR TONIGHT

frequently in the final half, and must be considered dangerous contenders. The Miners play Mt. St. Charles college of Helena tomorrow evening at Butte.

The Aggies have five veterans in their lineup, while the Miners have four letter men on their squad, both teams having a distinct advantage over the Bruins in experienced material available.

The State University now holds the state collegiate basketball championship, won in 1918, when the Bruins took three out of four games from the Aggies in a spirited series.

In 1917 the Aggies took four straight contests from the Bruins, the Bozeman team having practically the same line-up that year that they will present this season on the basketball court.

The 1916 teams from the State University and the State College did not clash, athletic relations having been severed for a year between the two state institutions following a hectic series of battles the previous year. The 1916 State University aggregation was the best in the institution's history, downing Washington State College, Gonzaga four times, and several other fast teams, while the Aggies also had a fast crew.

In 1915 each team won one game in the big series, the Bruins winning at Missoula by an eight-point margin, while the Aggies won at Bozeman, 29 to 27. Joe Markham's 1914 quint at the State College won two straight from the Bruins, while in 1913 the Aggies lost at Missoula, 179 to 16, won at Bozeman and then won again in the deciding contest of the series, played at Helena. The previous two years were rather easy for the Aggies, who, when defeated in 1918, had gone through eight seasons without losing the championship to the Bruins.

"Let's go, Montana."

Erton V. Herring, '18, is now a mining chemist near the city of Santiago, Chile, according to word received by "Swede" Dahlberg.
